Lender's Comprehensive Guide to Mortgage Loan Compliance

Overview

During the last few years, both Congress and the various federal regulators have crafted revisions to many of the regulations that have been a part of our lending lives. This has resulted in many additional regulatory issues in every mortgage loan transaction. As a result, lenders have been struggling to determine what they should do to assure that they not only make a safe and sound loan for the bank, but also do so in a manner that will not create regulatory difficulties.

With all of the changes and additions, a one-day seminar to cover this subject has not been possible in recent years. This seminar will be two very full days in length. This seminar will cover all aspects of mortgage compliance that a lender should know, including all the current rules and recent changes.

All subjects that will be covered will include all of the latest information available. A complete listing of subjects (as known at the time of printing this brochure) are included in the Agenda.

Who Should Attend

This seminar is designed to discuss the compliance issues from the perspective of mortgage lenders and lending management. This seminar will also assist compliance officers, senior management, bank trainers, loan auditors, loan operations personnel, and others involved in the mortgage lending compliance process to understand all of the new requirements and to share this information with others inside the bank.
